of the 28th Winter Universiade 2017

Nail Nurov

So here is the moment of the start of the 28th Winter Universiade 2017. As part of the preparations for this event, existing sport venues have been renovated and new venues have been built. Each venue is ready to host competitions of national and international scale at a high level. We have been looking forward to the Games, to the ambitions and passion of students that warm the stadiums when their efforts are rewarded with successful results.

The Organising Committee has done a great job in the successful realisation of the Universiade, but it is also important to emphasise the considerable contribution of the citizens of the city of Almaty. All of them will be taking part and helping to turn the competition into a festival.

Millions of people all over the world will be attentively observing events in the sports arenas of the city. They will witness the birth of sports stars full of hopes, passions and talents. And these athletes will then become an inspiration and serve as an example to the younger generations.
